

These notes describe the allowances claimable by a resident of the Northern Territory who holds a registered interest in a licensed workshop.

Do not use these notes if the workshop is unregistered. The notes will help you claim relief on tooling, claim relief on materials, and record the balance carried forward at the end of the period.

To make a claim you need to complete and sign form W12. The form asks for details of every registered interest, the allowances taken in the period, and the deductions carried across from the preceding period.

If there is not enough space on the form, list the remaining items on a separate sheet, put the total on the form itself, and send the sheet with your claim. Your reference number is printed in the top right corner of the first page of the form.

Enquiries

We may ask you to send evidence of the allowances taken, such as tooling receipts or a workshop register extract.

Relief on registered tooling

A registered holder is liable to duty on the value of tooling brought into the workshop during the period. Relief is normally given at the standard rate, and is given at the higher rate where the tooling was acquired on or after 6 April 2013.

If you are not a registered holder you are not liable to duty on tooling, and no relief arises. Duty on registered tooling is normally settled with no deduction taken. You do not need to enter details of relief on tooling acquired from 6 April 2013 onwards.
